

MARYLAND GAZETTE

Containing the freshest Advices Foreign and Domestic.

TUESDAY, October 7, 1756.

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE: for June, 1746.

After a visit by M. d'Albigny, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, from the Camp of Louvois's Headquarters, M. Van Hoey, the Dutch Ambassador, to Paris, May 26,

You will see that he has been sent to the French Court, and is now nearly in it. I hope you will be so good as to answer your question concerning the King's conduct towards him, as his master, and the King's party of his crown, may give him.

THE Duke of Lorraine, who is an excellent man, and a very good soldier, has just now received his Letter of Recall, and is gone to Paris.

This is a very bad news to us, because this Duke of Lorraine is a man of great merit, and power, and we have lost him.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

He was sent to the Netherlands, and was to remain there, but he did not return, and was sent to France.

Nobody, sir, is more capable than yourself to form these observations; your equity, and your love of peace, will suggest to you what is best to lay upon this important subject.